Paris House awarded coveted Michelin-star

The team at Paris House in Woburn is today celebrating their inclusion in the 100th edition of The Michelin Guide Great Britain and Ireland having been awarded a prestigious Michelin-star. Paris House is one of only five new additions to the list of one star restaurants outside London.

The restaurant, located in the stunning Woburn Estate was acquired in December 2009 and then opened two months later by The 10 in 8 Fine Dining Group under Executive Chef Alan Murchison and Head Chef Phil Fanning.

Alan Murchison CEO of the group said "It's been a nerve racking morning for us all but I am absolutely thrilled for Phil and the team as this award recognizes all the hard work they have put in during the past year."

Richard Pursey Chairman of the group said "We are bowled over by the news and are delighted for Phil Fanning and the whole team. This award is testimony to the talent and hard work of the youngsters we are developing within the business and aiming to establish in the industry."
